MURDER TRIAL FINISHED

EASTERN JUDGE GIVES THE CHARGE TO JURY.

Young Girl Accused of Slaying Clarence F. Glover Will Know Her Fate Today.

East Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 14.—This morning Judge Bond resumed the charge to the jury which he began yesterday afternoon and in the course of the day Hattie Leblanc, the 17-year-old girl who is accused of the murder of Clarence F. Glover, will know whether she is to walk from the courthouse a free girl or pay the penalty of death in the electric chair. The plea of Attorney Johnson was a merciless arraignment of Mrs. Glover. He referred to her as a vampire again and again and spoke of Hattie Leblanc's experience in the Glover home as "white slavery." He recited "The Vampire" and quoted from the Scriptures. He accused Mrs. Glover of being responsible for her husband's corruption. He declared the government had failed to produce evidence to show that Hattie Leblanc committed the crime. He said it had been shown that Glover may have been killed by some one else.

District Attorney Higgins, in summing up, said that Hattie Leblanc's own story of her experience in the laundry was enough to convict her. The struggle described by the girl, he said, took place after she had shot Glover. He said in part: "Mr. Glover knew who fired that revolver. What is the defendant's explanation? She says she heard the shot as she was going downstairs. And do you know anything in this case to explain the shot in the back and the location of the wound except that he was shot when going down stairs? The person who shot Glover on the stairs was a person in whom he had every confidence and from whom he expected no such thing."

WILL GO AFTER INDICTED MEN

United States District Attorney Wise Says He Won't Stop With Purpose Half Accomplished.

New York, Dec. 14.—United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise returned from Washington with the light of victory in his eyes as a result of the decision of the United States supreme court that the indicted officials of the sugar trust must stand trial. "Does this mean that you intend to push the indictments against the men higher up in the sugar trust?" a reporter asked. "I have been consistent in my efforts to keep this prosecution from falling down," was the answer. "I do not mean to stop now with my purpose only half accomplished."

GUILTY OF FRAUD CONSPIRACY

Former Treasurer of the United States and Two Other Men Are Convicted.

Washington, Dec. 14.—James H. Huston, former treasurer of the United States under President Harrison; Harry M. Lewis, New York, and Elmer Dufour, a Washington lawyer, were convicted of conspiracy to defraud through the mails. The men were officers of the National Trust Co., which held out, through mail circulars, offers to underwrite the securities of corporations for a premium. Postal authorities raided their company and proved that they had not the capital they claimed.

WOMAN SNUFFS OUT OWN LIFE

Daughter of Cleveland Resident Writes Queer Note and Puts Bullet Through Heart.

Pittsburg, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Nellie Brewer Tigglebeck, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Brewer of Cleveland, and wife of Mounted Policeman Henry H. Tigglebeck, committed suicide by shooting herself through the heart with her husband's revolver. Her body was found by her husband, who says he can give no reason for the suicide. Mrs. Tigglebeck left a disconnected note. On one side of the paper she wrote, "Do as I wanted to. I long for a life that was different. Forgive. Everybody, Nellie."

EAGLE FIGHTS BUCKEYE MAN

Tries to Carry Off Lamb and Battles Farmer Who Finally Captures It.

Bellefontaine, O., Dec. 14.—Elmer Fawcett a farmer of Zaniesfield, this county, captured a bald eagle alive. It measures eight feet from tip to tip. Mr. Fawcett found the eagle with its talons fastened in a lamb. He ran into the field to frighten it away but the eagle remained to fight and in the tussle Mr. Fawcett received some scratches on his face and some hard blows from the eagle's wings, but finally captured it and has it in captivity.

Says Butler Kills Self.

Lima, O., Dec. 14.—Coroner A. Pfeffer has just rendered his verdict that Joseph A. Butler died by his own hand in a rooming house in this city. Mayor Dyer dismissed Mrs. Mary Butler, widow of the dead man, who had been arraigned on a charge of killing him. Both decisions were based on a lack of evidence.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Real virtue scorns adulation; that's where it differs from brains. Man's reason gets him into mischief that woman's instinct keeps her out of.

Any woman can understand a telegram because no woman understands punctuation.

A few men can undergo as severe an ordeal for themselves as all women can for other people.

No matter how it disgusts a woman for her husband to chew tobacco she can't help admiring him for being able to do such a hard thing.

A Great Artist's Great Hat.

A very great artist in New York wears a very large hat when painting portraits. So wide is the brim that his brushes must have long handles. He is obliged to have them made to order. The brim keeps him at a judicious distance from his canvas, makes his work broader, but it takes charity in a generous measure to believe that he wears the hat for the sake of his painting. William Morris converted those of fine minds among his contemporaries to the belief that nothing should be placed in a home unless to serve some practical purpose, that things for use should be useful, but that there should be no ornaments for ornament's sake. How much we need such a theory now in dress! The hat of this great artist, with its brim so wide that only with long handled brushes can he reach his canvas, is only an aggravated form of the absurd vanities now prevalent in Greater New York. — Brooklyn Life.

Among the "Extras."

One of the things which help swell the traveller's expenses, both in this country and abroad, is the "extra." It may or may not be charged in the bill, but it is sure to be paid for. Probably even the most generous traveller, however, will have some sympathy for the gentleman in the following story, who was made to pay liberally for a certain annoying privilege.

During his stay at the hotel the weather had been very hot. "Charles," said the landlord to the clerk who was making out the bill to be presented to the departing guest, "have you noticed that the gentleman in number seven has consulted the thermometer on the piazza at least ten times every morning during his stay here?"

Charles replied that he had. "Well," said the landlord, "charge him the price of one dinner a day for the use of the thermometer." — Youth's Companion.

A Strange Sea Fish.

The angler, or fishing frog, of which a specimen has just been captured near Brighton, though nowhere common, seems more generally distributed around our coasts than some authorities suppose.

The angler is so called from the curious "rod and bait" formed by a modification of a ray of the front dorsal fin, which was formerly fancied to attract small fish; but the entire hideous body is a marvelous mimetic adaptation of the bottom of the sea, upon which the creature walks, using the pectoral fins for feet. This marine ogre has little value, except for museums; but the gall is used by Irish washerwomen to bleach linen, and in Iceland it is utilized for the manufacture of soap. — Westminster Gazette.

Lattice Screens for Inns.

Many quaint old inns are to be seen in King's Lynn and the sign of the Lattice Inn is one of the oldest in existence. In the olden times the windows of inns were kept open, and in order to hide the revellers within a lattice screen, painted red, was placed in the window.

There is an old saying: "As well known by my wit as an alehouse by a red lattice." The lattices continued up to the beginning of the eighteenth century and when they disappeared from the windows they were adopted as signs. The latter are getting very scarce and it is questionable whether half a dozen could be found in this country. — Cycling.

Largest Oil Tanks.

Two concrete reservoirs for oil, said to be the largest in the world, are in the course of construction at San Luis Obispo, Cal., each of which will have a capacity of 1,000,000 barrels of oil. The reservoirs are to cost $500,000, and the oil to fill them will be piped from the Bakersfield, Maricopa, Coalinga and Midway wells. When the tanks are filled the oil in them will flow by gravity to the pumping station at San Luis Obispo, from thence will be pumped directly to the tank steamers at Port Hartford. — Popular Mechanics.

Trade in Sea Worn Pebbles.

A new industry is being started in Seaton which will provide employment for people in the winter. At present a large business is transacted in sea worn pebbles which are imported from the French coast, and it is hoped to capture part of this trade.

Trial orders from several large users of the pebbles are on hand, and gangs of men are engaged in collecting the pebbles from the beach at Seaton and the neighboring villages. — London Mail.

A Sensitive Ear.

The poet, Malherbe, the founder of the purity of the French language, was very sensitive on the score of diction. When, during his last moments, his confessor, by way of encouraging him, began to enlarge on the joys of paradise. "Stop," cried Malherbe. "Your ungrammatical style is giving me a distaste for them!"

REFUSES TO DINE WITH ROOSEVELT

GOV-ELECT BALDWIN FAILS TO PUT IN APPEARANCE AT BANQUET HALL.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 14.—Simeon E. Baldwin, governor-elect of Connecticut, refused to sit in the same dining room with Col. Theodore Roosevelt at the annual banquet of the New Haven chamber of commerce. Till the last, however, the governor refused to tell whether or not he would attend the banquet and there were a few of the diners who felt confident that Judge Baldwin would put in an eleventh hour appearance at the banquet hall, pocketing the displeasure he feels at the attack the ex-president made on him during the recent campaign.

Officials Had Been Notified.

Officials of the chamber had, however, been notified. Neither they nor Judge Baldwin wished it known that he had refused to attend the banquet because any definite announcement of such action by him would have resulted in a stampede by the Democratic members of the chamber and so many of them would have followed the governor in refusing to attend that the banquet would have been a fizzle. There were 700 present when Colonel Roosevelt entered the Yale dining hall where the feasting was held. At the speakers table were Colonel Roosevelt, Col. Isaac Ullman, president of the chamber of commerce; President A. T. Hadley of Yale; Secretary Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., Chief Justice Frederick B. Hall of Bridgeport, ex-Gov. R. S. Woodruff, ex-Gov. P. C. Lounsbury and Mayor Frank J. Rice.

Toasts President and Chief Justice.

When Colonel Ullman in a brief introductory speech presented Colonel Roosevelt the entire audience arose and applauded for 20 seconds. Colonel Roosevelt said in part: "It has been my frequent good fortune to visit New Haven and I have always enjoyed myself. It was in this hall that I made my first appearance as a speaker after I became president when I was given a honorary decree. I was speaking to Chief Justice Hall of Connecticut. He tells me that he fought as a Union soldier in the late Civil war and that he reminds me of the president of the United States, a son of Yale, has just appointed as chief justice, a brave soldier of the Civil war who wore the gray. Tonight I give you two toasts, the president of the United States and that eminent learned lawyer and jurist whom, although of an opposite political party, he has chosen as the head of the judiciary of the country, Chief Justice White of Louisiana."

ASK $123,000 FOR CANAL

State Board of Public Works Members Seek $735,700 Appropriation for Coming Year.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Members of the state board of public works asked for appropriations aggregating $735,700 for 1911 and $732,500 for the following year in an estimate of their expenses for the next two years, filed with the State Auditor Fullington. To improve the northern division of the Ohio canal, $123,000 for 1911 and $118,600 for 1912 was sought. For maintenance of this division, the receipts and balances, $15,000 for each of the two years will be used. State university trustees have asked the general assembly for $1,056,000 to construct new buildings in conformity with their group plan of structures outlined last year, in their report filed with Governor Harmon.

BOYCOTT OHIO MEAT DEALERS

Five Hundred Working Men at Salem Combine Orders and Send to Pittsburg Market.

Salem, O., Dec. 14.—Salem meat consumers are now engaged in a lively meat war that is playing havoc with the retail business of all eight dealers in the city. The agitators of this meat war now threaten to extend their boycott into the grocery line. A meat club composed of 500 workingmen has been organized for the purpose of buying meat from a wholesale firm in Pittsburg, because they claimed that local dealers boosted the price of all cuts above that asked in other towns and then refused to reduce the price. These men by sending their orders together get the advantage of wholesale prices from Pittsburg.

Ohio Hotel Man at Dayton.

Dayton, O., Dec. 14.—A hilarious crowd swarmed about the Phillips house today, getting badges, programs and tickets for the annual convention of the Ohio State Hotel association. Hundreds of hotel keepers were on hand, and most of them were accompanied by their wives and families. The convention opened this afternoon and addresses were delivered by Prof. Eugene Girard of Niagara Falls and Gus Lindeman of Dayton.

Put Oil in Your Lamp.

The human body has been compared to a lamp, the life being the flame. If the lamp, or body, is kept supplied with oil the flame will burn steadily much longer than when not. The patriarchs lived much longer than men live today, and olive oil was without exception one of their "blessings," which they daily used. Whether the comparison is merely fanciful or not it is hard to say, but there seems to be an element of truth in it.
